Biography

One of the most celebrated and experienced parliamentarians to represent Rutland during the later Middle Ages, Flore was clearly following an established family tradition when he decided to pursue an administrative career in the service of the Crown. His father, a prominent local figure who not only sat on the county bench but also held office as sheriff, played a leading part in the administration of the royal lordship of Oakham, most notably during his long period as receiver there. It was, no doubt, through his influence that Roger secured the post of coroner of Rutland while still a comparatively young man. He also followed his father's example by becoming involved in commerce, for it was largely as a result of his activities in the wool trade that William Flore had been able to make a joint loan of almost £2,100 to Edward III.5 The scale of Roger's operations cannot now be determined, but we know that in February 1394 he was shipping 106 sarplers of wool from Lynn to Calais. One of his business partners on this occasion was the Calais stapler, William Dalby of Oakham, whose daughter, Katherine, may already have become Flore's wife. The couple were certainly married by the autumn of 1398, when they received a papal licence to make use of a portable altar. Dalby is now chiefly remembered as the founder of the hospital of St. John the Evangelist and St. Anne in Oakham, although most of the legal arrangements for its endowment were effected by Flore in his capacity as principal executor of his father-in-law's will. Despite his growing preoccupation with official business outside Rutland, he maintained strong connexions with the county town: besides consolidating his holdings in the surrounding countryside he built himself a house in the high street (which still stands) and proved a generous benefactor to the parish church when the time came for him to draw up his own will.⁶

Flore had, meanwhile, gained the support of a particularly influential patron in the shape of Edward, earl of Rutland (later duke of Aumâle, and from 1402 duke of York), who received the lordship of Oakham and the shrievalty of Rutland in 1390 as a gift from the Crown. The first direct evidence of their association is to be found in November 1399, the date of Flore's appointment by Aumâle as keeper both of the warrens of Oakham and one of the parks at Leighfield forest. Two days later the duke gave him the freehold of certain property lying near his house in Oakham which he had previously held by copy. It seems likely that our Member owed his two separate offices as verderer of the royal forests of Rutland and Rockingham to Aumâle, whose other posts included that of warden of the royal forests south of Trent (and thus of Rockingham) and forester of Rutland. Perhaps he had also to thank him for his first return to Parliament in January 1397, and for his subsequent inclusion among the j.p.s for Rutland, whose selection during this tense and difficult period was partly dictated by their political sympathies. In any event, Flore's attachment to the duke remained strong until the latter fell at Agincourt in 1415, and it may even be said to have continued beyond the grave. He was a trustee of the property which York mortgaged to raise the revenues for building a college at Fotheringhay, and also of the ducal manor of Faulston which seems to have been excluded from this arrangement. Both men were themselves feoffees-to-uses for William, Lord Zouche of Harringworth, who settled a large part of his estates upon them. Together with Thomas Langley, bishop of Durham, Flore acted as an overseer of York's will, and it is interesting to note that several of his own bequests were for pious works dedicated to the memory of his former benefactor.⁷

Although we do not know when (or where) Flore acquired his training in the law, it is clear that by the beginning of the 15th century he was regarded as a lawyer of considerable skill and repute. This certainly does much to account for the impressive range of official appointments and royal commissions which came his way after 1399. One of his tasks was to supervise the affairs of Sir Robert Pleasington, his colleague in the first 1397 Parliament, whose recurrent bouts of insanity made it necessary for the Crown to assert its rights of wardship over him and his estates. Pleasington's son, Sir Henry, eventually married one of Flore's daughters, and no doubt obtained his first seat in the Commons (in 1419) through the influence of his father-in-law. The two men were returned together in 1422, when Flore, as Speaker for the fourth and last time, was ideally placed to utilize the network of connexions which he had built up over the years. Constantly in demand as a feoffee, he was a party to the property transactions of several prominent landowners, including Sir William Bourghier, John Harper, Edmund Wynter, Sir Ralph Eure, John Newbold (with whom he was returned in November 1414), Drew Barantyn, William Flete, Sir William Papworth, Sir Thomas Aylesbury, Aubrey, the son of John Wittlebury, Sir Simon Felbrigge (sometime standard-bearer to Richard II), Ralph, Lord Basset of Sapcote's widow, Alice, and last, but by no means least, his own son-in-law, Sir Henry Pleasington. He may well have given counsel to Thomas, Lord de la Warre, who thought well enough of him to present his younger son, Roger, with a gift of plate when he was christened.⁸ Flore's list of clients appears to have grown as his public commitments increased: Robert Wintringham (d. by 1420), a canon of Lincoln, chose him to be his executor; and he also undertook to supervise the wills of James Bellers* (d.1421) and Robert Stoneham, vicar of Oakham (d.1409). In October 1419 he and Richard Whittington* were licensed to act as attorneys in England for Richard Beauchamp, Lord Abergavenny; and at some point in the year ending at Michaelmas 1421 the latter's kinsman, Richard, earl of Warwick, rewarded Flore's friendship (amicitia) with a present of £2, perhaps because he was then anxious to win support for his wife's claim to the Berkeley inheritance. At about this time, in April 1421, Flore was appointed (together with the treasurer of England, the chief baron of the Exchequer and Thomas Chaucer*) as a trustee of the annual pension of 500 marks which had just been settled upon Philip Repingdon, the recently retired bishop of Lincoln. He had other links with the Church in that area, for in April 1425 and again in February 1426 the abbot of Croyland authorized him to act as his parliamentary proxy. The beginning of Henry VI's reign also saw his involvement in the property transactions of Henry Chichele, archbishop of Canterbury.⁹

Flore's record of service in the House of Commons—particularly in the Speakership—is one of the most striking features of his career. His tenure of this office in three consecutive Parliaments (in 1416, 1417 and 1419) was not to be repeated until the mid 17th century, and it reflects the extent of his influence and experience. Flore had already begun to work for the Crown as a lawyer by the time that he first became Speaker, since he then held in trust some of the estates which Henry V had settled upon his recent foundation, the Bridgettine nunnery of St. Saviour at Syon in Middlesex. He entered upon a regular career in royal employment just after the close of the second 1416 Parliament, which suggests that the King wanted to reward his efforts as Speaker. The post of chief steward of the duchy of Lancaster estates north of the Trent was a demanding and onerous one, carrying with it ex officio membership of the duchy council and a seat on the bench of each northern county in which the duchy owned property. In return for his labours Flore received an annual fee of £40, together with an allowance of 5s. for every day spent on official business. Not long afterwards he was made chief steward of the duchy estates in Lancashire and Cheshire, too, thus becoming one of the most powerful administrators then employed in the organization. By May 1417, the King had appointed Flore and other members of the duchy council as his feoffees-to-uses in the manor of Wethersfield, Essex, a property recently incorporated into his own inheritance after the partition of the de Bohun estates. On his departure for France in the following July, Henry placed a further mark of confidence in Flore, by naming him among the 12 persons upon whom his trustees in the duchy were to draw should one of their own number die and have to be replaced. The Parliament which met four months later witnessed Flore's re-election as Speaker, his two main tasks being to secure enough taxes to pay for the war-effort and to supervise the Commons' petition for the execution of Sir John Oldcastle* on the dual charge of heresy and treason. As a royal commissioner for the suppression of lollardy, Flore had previously been instrumental in punishing Oldcastle's supporters, so his orthodoxy may well have been a matter of strong personal conviction. All four of the Parliaments in which he occupied the Speakership proved more than generous in the matter of money supply, that of 1419 granting a whole tenth and fifteenth together with a supplementary third of such a subsidy, in order that persons ready to make anticipatory loans to the Crown could be offered adequate securities. Although Flore was not returned to any of Henry V's last three Parliaments, his son-in-law, Sir Henry Pleasington, and his great friend, John Pensax, who sat for Rutland in 1420 and May 1421 respectively, may in a certain sense be regarded as his placemen. Flore is known to have been present at the county elections to Parliament in 1407 (when, as newly appointed sheriff he was first to attest the indenture drawn up by his predecessor), 1420, May 1421, 1423, 1425 and 1426, so he was clearly in a strong position to influence the choice of those present. Flore entered the House of Commons for the 12th and last time in November 1422, and was once again elected Speaker. Less than two years before this, he had attended the coronation of Henry V's queen, Katherine of Valois, but the King's sudden death in France had dispelled the mood of general optimism characteristic of the later Parliaments of his reign. The main business of the session was to provide for the payment of Henry's debts and the administration of his will, two tasks which were of immediate concern to Flore in his capacity as a senior employee of the duchy of Lancaster. Perhaps he had already been made chief steward of the late King's feoffees in Lancashire, a post which was certainly in his hands by the end of the year.

Although he relinquished the stewardship of Lancashire and Cheshire in Flore retained his principal duchy office until his death at some point shortly before November 1427. Both his testamentum (which he had prudently drafted much earlier on 15 Apr. 1424) and his ultima voluntas (made in October 1425 after the birth of his youngest son, William) provide eloquent witness to the precise legal mind which had served him so well throughout his career. It is, moreover, from these two documents that we are able to compile a list of the various properties which he bought over the years out of the profits of his flourishing legal practice. In addition to his family estates in and around Oakham, he owned land in the Rutland villages of Whitwell, Masthorpe and Little Hambledon, most of which he purchased in 1412 from Sir Thomas Burton* for the sum of 200 marks.¹⁰ His other holdings comprised the Lincolnshire manors of Stenby and Braceby, as well as property in Bratoft and Halton in the same county, and a substantial estate in Leicestershire centred upon the manor of Leesthorpe. He acquired the latter during the course of the 1422 Parliament, and it is interesting to note that one of the feoffees employed by him at the time was John Frank, the clerk of the Parliament. Flore also possessed an inn in London, and since he spent so much time at Westminster it may well be that he further endeared himself to the electors of Rutland by agreeing to forgo his parliamentary expenses. That Flore died a wealthy man is beyond question. As early, as August 1404, he and his kinsman, John Dalby, offered Henry IV a joint loan of £100 towards the cost of the Welsh wars, and although no other comparative evidence of his financial dealings has come to light, we may be sure that he grew much richer with the passage of time. By 1425 he was evidently in a position to make personal legacies of over £550 to members of his family alone. He was generous not only to friends but also to the poor of Oakham and a number of religious bodies in various parts of the country. His munificence was, however, qualified by a lawyer's shrewdness: seizing the opportunity to advise his wife and children about the conduct of their affairs, he characteristically urged them to find 'a wel lerned man of the lawe', and pressed upon them the need to safeguard their title to the property which he had left them.^{11}

At least eight of Flore's children survived him, but only one, his eldest son, named Thomas, ever sat in Parliament. Although less impressive than his father's, his career was not without distinction: he served six terms as sheriff of Rutland and sat on the local bench for over 25 years. Mindful of the great debt which his family owed to the house of Lancaster, he remained loyal to Henry VI despite the many vicissitudes of his later years, and thus died (in c.1472) in comparative obscurity, under something of a cloud.^{12}

Inquisition

Potterne

John Flower, Gentleman

Inquisition taken at Marlborough, 4th April, 2 Charles I [1626], before John Foyle, esquire, escheator, after the death of John Flower, gentleman, by the oath of Richard . . . , John Spencer, George Mortimer, Bartholomew Smith, Alexander Dismer, Henry Smith, John Noyse, Thomas Smith, John Waterman, Edward Dismore, Thomas Sloper, Thomas Eyres, Thomas Freeman, . . . King, and John Lawrence, who say that John Flower, gent., father of above said John Flower, was seised of one messuage and a virgate of land in Chitterne St. Mary, in co. Wilts, called Piper's, and on 16th May, 6 James I [1608] granted the same to John Attwood, Laurence Attwood, and Grace Attwood, sons and daughter of John Attwood, of Chitterne, husbandman, to hold them for lives and the life of the longest liver of them, at an annual rent of 15s. 6d. With reversion to the said John Flower, the father.

The said John Flower, the father, was also seised of one capital messuage in Chitterne St. Mary, called Morgan's Hold, formerly in the tenure of William Tynburie, and of one tenement and toft called Rowleaze, and half a virgate of land in Chitterne St. Mary, formerly in the tenure of Thomas Newman, and on 2nd July, 6 James I [1608]. granted the last-mentioned to John Hayter the younger, of Chitterne St. Mary aforesaid, yeoman, and Elizabeth his wife, to have to the same for their lives, or the life of the longer liver of the, and after their deaths to their assigns for 99 years, if Constance Hayter, daughter of the said John Hayter should so long live, rendering therefor 40s.

The said John Flower died on the 29th October, 12 James I [1614], seised of the reversion of the aforesaid premises, and immediately after his death the aforesaid John Flower, the son, was seised thereof.

John Flower, the son, was seised of a capital messuage called Flower's Farm, in Worton, co. Wilts, and, together with John Merewether, of Great Cheverell, yeoman, by indenture of 17th August, 17 James I [1619], in consideration of a marriage to be had between the said John Flower, the son, and Joan, daughter of Thomas Longe, of Little Cheverell gent., enfeofed the said Thomas Long, with the said premises last recited, to hold to him, his heirs and assigns (as jointure for the aforesaid Joan) to the use of the said John Flower, the son, the said John and the heirs male of the bodies, and in default, to the use of the said John Flower, the son, his heirs and assigns for ever.

The said John Flower, the son, was also seised of 2 cottages or tenements in Worton aforesaid, late in the tenure of William Mintye, or his assigns. viz. Piper's, during the lives of John and Grace Attwood, 14s., and after their deaths 30s.; the residue, during the lives of John, Elizabeth, and Constance Hayter 29s., and after their deaths £3. The aforesaid messuage, tenements, cottages, and other premises in Worton, are held by John bishop of Salisbury, as of his manor of Potterne, by fealty, suit of court, and the annual rent of 10s., and are worth per annum, clear, viz. the premises limited for pasture, 40s.; the residue thereof 12d.

The aforesaid Laurance Attwood died on the 14th April, 19 James I [1621], whilst the said John and Grace Attwood survive.

The said John Flower, the son, died on 20th August, 22 James I [1624]; Joan, his wife, survives. John Flower, gent, is son and next heir of the said John Flower, the son, and the said Joan, and at the time of his father's death was of the age of 2 years 11 months and 2 days. The aforesaid John, Elizabeth and Constance Hayter survive.

The said Joan Flower, widow of the said John, on whom the Inquisition is taken, survives.

This entry was found in the Brinkworth records, transcribed by Clive Henly.

My own transcription from the Wiltshire Records Office shows the wife to be Mary, not Sarah as in C Henly's notes.

I have placed this Mary with this family, as there seems to be no other likely parents. But please note that this is a weak link.

The Bremhill marriage register shows Timothy Castle, blacksmith, of Berwick Bassett, and Jane Wakefield of Bremhill being married on 19 Sept. 1756. Witnesses to the wedding were Katherine Hughes and Joseph Wakefield.

Recorded in the Mildenhall burial register is:

Timothy Caswell or Castell, 55 yrs a widower came to lodge in the Parish of Mildenhall on 20 Oct., died 21st Oct, buried 24 Oct 1809.

I have searched the database to connect the date, but nothing exact popped up. As people guessed the age of the dead, especially if they were strangers, then I located the most likely candidate for this record. Of course, it could belong to someone else.

There are 2 entries for Mary Anne Caswell in the IGI page 2808.

I have placed the other person with the Johnson family branch, but it does seem more obvious that this Mary Anne, being possibly illegitimate, would have ended up in the workhouse, especially as the family line was not exactly poor.

Time will tell which is the right one.

Henry was recorded in the 1861 census being 6 years old.

1881 Quarley Hants Census

Henry was listed as a 'servant blacksmith', 26 yrs old, and lived in Quarley Hants.

He must have met his wife Hannah Sprules there, married here and she had one or two children. It appears she died and he married Alice Bredmore.

Spouse: Sarah Lewington (1861-)

Birth: 1861, Axford

When Sarah's boys went off to fight in WW1, she vowed she would never lock the front door of the cottage until they all returned.

In the 1881 census Sarah is shown living in Aldbourn and being 20 yrs old.

Sarah was a regular user of snuff, according to her granddaughter Elsie Caswell.

Times were very hard for this family and they were not adverse to nipping into a farmers field to 'lift' a couple of Swedes to augment their meagre rations. Another regular on their table was a slice of bread, spread with lard and sprinkled with sugar. The modern version of this is to use butter instead of lard. Its quite a tasty treat!

On my UK visit in 1995 I met Elsie for the first time. She told several stories, but one in particular was about her grandmother Sarah(nee Lewington). Sarah took snuff and her fingers were stained from its use. She used to make 'Spotted Dick', a suet pudding with raisins in it, and Elsie refused to eat it, thinking that Sarah had put snuff in it. Elsie was always terrified of Sarah, and no one seems to know why as she was not cruel to her.

The 1881 census shows John to be occupied as 'father's assistant'. So he must have been an 'apprentice' blacksmith. He lived with his parents.

According to John's great grandson, Garry Caswell:

John was a master blacksmith and farrier. he was a resident of Marlborough during his married years. Whilst working as a farrier in WW1 he was kicked by a horse and subsequently died in the 1940's.

Spouse: Ruth Caswell (1867-Apr 1953)
 Birth: 1867
 Death: Apr 1953, St Mary's, Marlborough

Fiche # 35 Mi's.

Ruth was known to be living at 34 Laney's Close Marlborough during WW1, and may have lived there until her death.

 Death: abt 1940
 Father: John Caswell (9 Jun 1867-)
 Mother: Ruth Caswell (1867-Apr 1953)

Reginald entered the Royal Navy and fought in the battle ofJutland o n the King's Flagship under Admiral Jellicoe. Theship was called HM S Marlborough and at the time was thepride of the British Fleet. I t was manned by, what theBritish Forces call, 'chosen men'. The entr y age for theNavy was 16, so we presume he joined in 1914. This woul dhave given him the time to neccessary to be promoted to Battleship/ Flagship standards. It is known that hisfather, John, died before h e entered the Navy, and thatwould suggest he was killed prior to 191 4.

Search For John Caswell, Marlborough

Date: Tuesday, March 24. 1998 5:34 PM

Hi My name Is Carry Caswell and I am currently trying to find some in formation about my great grandfather John Caswell. and as I know that you have and are previously researching the Wiltshire Caswells. I would be interested to know if you have found any information regarding him-background: I am unsure as to the place of birth of John. but he was known to have been resident in Marlborough during his marrie d years. By profession he was a master blacksmith and farrier, and It is known that while working as a farrier in the pre WW1 period he w as kicked by a horse and subsequently died in his ?40's- His son, m y grandfather Reginald, born in Marlborough entered the Navy and fought in the Battle of Jutland on the Kings Flagship under Admiral Jellicoe- This ship was called HMS Marlborough and at the time was the pride of the British fleet and was manned by. what the British forces call,'chosen men'. It is known that his father. John, had died before he entered the Navy. Reg, was born in 1897 and as the age entry requirement for the Royal Navy at that time was 1 e, we presume that he ent ered the Navy in 1014.This would have given him the time necessary t o have been promoted to Battleship Flagship crew standards.

Anyway. that would suggest that John was killed prior to1914. and b y suppositon. that he was born around 1860 inthe Marlborough area. J ohn was married to Ruth Caswell,who lived in Marlborough until her d eath in the 1950's. I believe that your research has already found a RuthCaswell who is buried in St- Marys churchyard in Marlborough - I believe this may be my Great Grandmother. As background to Ruth , she was known to be living at 34 Laney's? Close during the first wor ld war, and possibly may have lived there until her death. If you hav e any information about John or can point me in the rightdirection I would be grateful if you could get in touch,In addition to the above, I would be Interested to hear if you have ever heard of anything similar to the following during your research: the following stories have been handed down through the family over a long period of timeand obviously they may be complete rubbish. but what theheck... I) during some time In the 017 orals a member of our direct line went to sea from Bristol? and became a trader in slaves from the West African Coast to the Caribbean. As part of the process of slaving many slaves were given, or took, English names. and this is the reason why there are a large number of African American, and European men with the Christian name 'Caswell'. I do know that quite a large number of slaves brought back to England during the slave trade were called Caswell 'whatever'. but can find no suggestion of a member of our family either 1) being involved in 'trading' or 2) have accumulated the kind of wealth that would be expected of a slave trader, 2) An even older legend that has passed down says that a member of our family took part in what would have been the equivalent of the national games in the 13th century. He is supposed to have been a common man that was for some reason forced into taking part in a jousting competition with the English Knights of the time. Even though he was a common man is supposed to have beaten the knights and during the final joust (some form of knockout process was in place). he is supposed to have beaten the leading knight and broken the sword/lance he used in one hand as some form of protest or victory celebration. After this, as champion. he was knighted. granted lands and title and later followed the King into battle. The king mentioned is always Edward II and emphasis is always on the defeat of the English Knights suggesting a foreign origin. This would also tally with a general understanding that we come from a Welsh line derived from North Wales. Edward II was a Welshman, born in Cernarfon, North Wales in 1284 (suggesting this legend is based during the reign of Edward II 1307-1327). and there may somewhere be the possibility that this 'Caswell' was brought in by Edward to show up the English Knights. Certainly the basic history of this legend fits. It is known that Edward had a deep respect for the Welsh knights. who under Llewellyn had defeated his father who honoured Llewellyn by making Llewellyn prince of Wales. Further to the above there has also been a suggestion that the family was in some way linked with Henry VII and came to England during the Wars of the Roses and fought at Bosworth Field in 1485. I'm not sure how much of the dark age history of Britain you know.

but Henry VII was descended from a Welsh knight. during Llewellyn's time, who was called Cadwalladr. In Welsh this is pronounced 'katswoil- arter'. There is an obvious resemblance to our name. and the presence of Cadwalladr was only found during my own research when I was at college. and I find it unlikely that my Grandfather. who had little education and never visited Wales, would be known of his existence. If you have heard any similar legends I would be interested to hear from you. Thanks in advance for any help you can give. Garry Caswell.

Dear Cousin Mike,

At long last I think I have assembled the relevant information showing how I am related to Ellen Caswell, daughter of Henry Caswell of Wootton Rivers, Wilts.

Caleb Gideon Hunt married Ellen Caswell on December 27th 1890 in the Wesleyan Chapel in Pewsey. This was the first of his three marriages. The full details are on the enclosed copy of their Marriage Certificate. Its a pity its a Registrars copy - a copy of the certificate of his second marriage shows a clear signature done with a steel pen nib. As you can see he was a soldier at the time - by 1909 he was a market gardener. I think that in his family there was a tradition of army service. Though his father, John, is listed as being a farmer, he had been a soldier in Ireland, probably around 1840, bringing a wife, Elizabeth, back to live at Greenhill near Swindon. She was there as a widow in 1881 with Caleb and his brother Enoch. She died around 1910 leaving the farm to Enoch. Earlier in oral family history someone fought in America - on the English side, of course.

They had eight children - I have not done any research on them, though, as I knew some of them, I can give you some facts.

John - died in Canada around 1912.

Florence - married Percy Smith, an ANZAC, in 1919. They went to Riverstone, N.S.W. Australia where they successfully reared poultry - and a family.

Henry - married Florence Reynolds, worked on the railway and grew beautiful vegetables on his allotment. I think he had 5 children, two of whom are still alive. Joyce is over 80, crippled with arthritis/rheumatism and living in a residential home in Swindon. She is one of the most cheerful people I have met and a pleasure to be with. John - her little brother lives in Australia having emigrated around 1954. He is now 68 and has a wife and family. He is also a Baptist lay preacher.

A twin to Henry who died at birth.

Charles - was a ships purser. He married Elsie and they had 2 sons, Charlie and Leslie. When my father and I visited him in the 1950s and 60s he was a widower living in Totton, Southampton.

Belinda Ellen - who died as a baby.

Edgar George, my father, bom 2nd July 1900 in Swindon.

Another baby - may have been called Ellen - who died.

Ellen Caswell Hunt died when my father was 7 - so probably in 1907 - of puerperal fever. My father had vivid memories of her as an excellent cook - she made 7 Christmas puddings every year - each one a bit smaller than the next. Caleb Gideon died in Swindon in June 1926.

After the death of his mother my father seems to have been passed round the relatives some of whom he liked. His mother's sister, Ethelene (Caswell) was one. She married someone called Lee and they had several children. I think I met them all, staying in both Great Bedwyn and Crofton with 2 of them. The husband of Rosalie even offered me a job as the village school mistress - I didn't think I'd got enough experience at the time so I said "No, Thank you." But they were very nice people.

By the time he was 14 my father had left home. His father's new wife had produced children and he did not want to become a nursemaid. After a spell in the Royal Navy - most of which he spent in Haslar R.N. Hospital recovering from flu followed by double pneumonia and empyacmia - (it was the 1919 'flu epidemic) - he began to use his knowledge of Steam Traction Engines. He drove one from London to Leeds in 1922 before joining the West Riding County Council first as a steam roller driver, progressing to a Barber Greene, the heavy new plant used in major road repair. In Yorkshire he was not known as Edgar but Jim - this became amusing when I heard my cousin Joyce in Swindon call him Uncle Edgar while my mother always called him Jim. He died in Sprotbrough near Doncaster in November 1970.

On May 5th 1928 he married Winifred Hannah Sykes of Doncaster. She was an Audio-typist at Bumetts Wagon Works - Doncaster was then a major railway engineering town. Of course, being 1928, after marrying she became a housewife instantly. They bought a house in Springwell Lane, Doncaster. She died in March 1952, aged 50.

They had one child (me) on August 2nd 1932. They christened me Sheila Winifred Rosemary. In 1934 my parents bought and moved into a house in Sprotbrough where I lived until I moved here in 1971. Even after I was married I was referred to as "Jim Hunt's daughter."

I went to Bishop Grosseteste College in Lincoln in 1950. It was then known as Lincoln Training College for Women Teachers. Here I trained as a Primary School Teacher, I did not give up teaching after I married, continuing off and on until I retired in 1992.

I married Roger Holmes of Doncaster on August 12th 1958 in the village church in Sprotbrough which is old - the North Porch was added in 1666 to an older building. He was also a Primary Teacher but he progressed to deputy head in Doncaster then to head in Mossley, Lancashire in 1971. This was when we moved to our present home in Cheshire.

Michael, our first son, was born in Doncaster on March 6th 1966. He is still living with us. He is a freelance musician, playing church pipe organ every Sunday in 2 churches, theatre organ in various places where they are preserved, electronic organ and keyboards in clubs and for all kinds of functions - I don't think he's done a Barinitzva yet!

Daniel, our second son, was born on January 23rd 1973. He is now a management accountant working for Yorkshire Electricity in Leeds having been to Nottingham University where he studied Economics and having also passed the exams set by the Institute of Management Accountancy he could sign himself as B.A., C.I.M.A. He now lives in York, an old city which he likes very much - and so do I ! Though at this moment it is suffering from a certain amount of flooding after the heavy rains which parts of the country are now receiving. Fortunately his flat is on higher ground than some of the houses in the city.

I haven't done much more research into Caleb's family - I might manage that when I find out which regiment was in the Barracks Le Marchand in 1890. It is obvious that Henry Caswell was dead by 1890 hence the move to Hugomont Farm, Collingbourne Ducis - (some lovely names in Wiltshire.) I'm sorry I can't find any blacksmiths or bakers in the family now - though my cousins tell me that I bake a good Christmas cake.

At the moment I'm pressing on with the study of my grandmother, Elizabeth Abbott and her family. They came from villages outside York so the records are easier to access - a train ride to York and a morning spent reading the parish records on microfiche - then a look round the city at the history or the shops. Next visit will be to scan Shipton between 1730 and 1800.

I hope all this is of use to you - if there is something missing please point me in the right direction and I will try to fill in the gaps. I know all this isn't relevant to your data base but I included it to help to make the characters alive and real people. This means that you can extract as you want provided that you get the vital facts correct - as I'm sure you will.

The enclosed is a small donation to your research fund and to help the postage costs of the Caswell Register.

Best wishes on your further research. If it is of any interest to you, my father told me never to pick watercress that was not growing in fresh water - I wonder who told HIM that?

I wonder if you have come across the hymn tune "Caswell"? I found it while I was scanning through a hymnal. It is a Victorian tune - not written by a Caswell. If you are interested I can send you a copy of it.

Sorry to have kept you waiting but as you know it sometimes takes a while to gather documents together .

Best wishes and regards from

Your Cousin Sheila

1881 census shows Rachel to be living in Ogbourne St Andrew.

The 1881 census shows James to be married to Rachel, both 43 yrs old. I am not sure whether there are in fact two wives for James, or there is an error here somewhere. More research needed.

The census also shows them both to be living in Ogbourne St Andrew.

There are 2 Rachel's who were born in Ogbourne St Andrew, \about the right time to be James' wife:- Rachel Waldron, daughter of Thomas & Hannah , born 4 Mar 1838 - Rachel Giddings, daughter of Alexander & Elizabeth, born 19 Apr 1839. Both fathers were laborers. On examining the actual baptism record on page 50, # 394, we can conclude that the Rachel we need here is indeed Rachel Waldron.

I asked an old man named Caswell in Rockley. He said at once "O yes , but it (the stream) only runs in the Great Wars." I asked if he had ever seen it and he said, 'No, there ain't been no great wars in my time'. Isaid, 'Wh at about the Crimea?'

'No, I zed the GREAT wars, Napoleon and such like...'

A letter from the Ministry of Defence dated 13 Oct 1995 Ref : 94/73943/CS(RM)2b/9

S. J. Caswell - Wiltshire Regiment

In reply to your enquiry, we regret that no records can now be traced relating to the military service of the above named in the British Army during the 1914-18 war. Unfortunately, as was mentioned in our original letter, a large proportion of the records of soldiers who served during the period 1914-20 were totally destroyed by enemy air action in 1940 and it would seem that those of the above named were among them.

The publication 'Soldiers Died in the Great War' has the following entry:

Wiltshire Regiment 2nd Battalion

CASWELL, Sidney James born Mildenhall, Wilts, enlisted in Devizes Wiltshire whilst living in Marlborough.

18387 Private Killed in Action France and Flanders 9. 4.17

The Commonwealth War Graves Commission at Maidenhead have provided the following details:

18387 Private Sidney James CASWELL 2nd Battalion Wiltshire Regiment

Killed in Action 9.4.17 aged 24

Husband of Mary METCALF formerly CASWELL, Russley Park, Blaydon, Wiltshire.

He was a native of Ogbourne St Andrew.

He is buried in the Wancourt British Cemetery which is a short distance south east of the village of Wancourt which is 8 kilometres south east of Arras in the department of Pas de Calais, France.

He is believed or known to be buried amongst the unknown soldiers and the cemetery register will hold further details regarding this.

It is possible that some information may be available from the Medal Rolls.

Details

of medal entitlement, regiment(s), rank(s) and Army number(s) are recorded in these Rolls. Also if you know the unit(s) of the above named, it may be possible to find details of the movements of the unit(s) in the Commander's War Diaries or they still survive.

Both the Medal Rolls and War Diaries are held by the Public Record Office at Ruskin
Avenue, Kew, Richmond, Surrey TW9 4DU. The Medal Rolls are referenced as Class
WO 329 and the War Diaries WO 95.

Father: James Caswell (16 Dec 1832-)

Mother: Louisa Holland (17 Jul 1834-4 Jun 1909)

James was the innovator of the Lardie cake, and would walk around Calne with his wicker basket full of these famous cakes.

A favorite dish of the time in country folks homes was a piece of bread, spread with lard and sprinkled with sugar. It may sound disgusting to you, but try it with a piece of bread spread with butter, then sprinkled with sugar. I guarantee you will like it! From this basic commodity available in almost every Wiltshire home, perhaps came the concept for James' famous Lardy cakes. He simply spread the lard onto a flattened piece of dough, then sprinkled it with sugar and currents, then folded it up and baked it in an oven. Today there are many bakers making poor Lardy cakes all across the land. James' are remembered for the sticky toffee that enveloped them. Eaten hot, they were a real treat. James's idea was taken up by George Henry Caswell baker in London Rd Calne, and the two Miss Caswells in Avebury.

When George Henry died suddenly, his wife sold the business to Wiltshire's of Calne, and they carried on making Lardy cakes in Maslens bakery, Church St. Many years later I worked for Maslens who taught me how to make these delightful cakes, so the Caswell family still has the recipe and technique of James Caswell. I still occasionally turn out an odd Lardy cake, just to keep my hand in!

James liked to make dandelion wine, and enjoyed a game of cards. This was in the days before TV, and so most evenings would be spent with a few of the local farmworkers invited round for cards and wine. According to Fred Goddard, they were a wicked bunch of card players, and often the games would go on until dawn, when the farm workers would stagger out and go straight off to work.

Fred actually delivered the Lardy cakes for 'Bill' and as a reward was given one, hot from the oven, to take home for tea on Saturdays.

Numerous children were employed in the collection of Dandelion flowers for wine production. They were usually given sweets from a jar in the shop as payment.

James had a serious accident when climbing up a ladder into the loft. The ladder slipped and he grabbed for something to steady himself, and unfortunately it was a huge earthenware pitcher. He pulled the pitcher over, and he fell with the pitcher smashing on top of him. Fred seems to think this was the beginning of the end for poor James.

In the 1898 North Wilts Directory for Yatesbury, James was recorded as being the local mail carrier or postman.

Death: Yatesbury
Father: John Ferris (1835-)
Mother: Mary (1829-)

The following was recorded in the Yatesbury Church newssheet in 1995.

Chance encounter in the Churchyard.

On Tuesday 18th July Fred Goddard was tidying up the churchyard when he was approached by a stranger who was looking for information to add to his family tree. He introduced himself as Michael Caswell, and said his great uncle had been the village baker and shop-keeper in Yatesbury. He had also been the churchwarden.

Fred showed him where the family graves were, and told him that his father had been a family friend of William Caswell. In fact, William had asked him to see to his wife's funeral arrangements if he was to die before her. This happened in due course, but before she died Mrs. Caswell gave Fred's father the family bible.

"The wonderful thing was" said Fred, "that I was able to give back to Michael Caswell the family bible which has handwritten family inscriptions in side. It was a very emotional moment for Michael when he held in his hands a piece of his family history". Michael has lived in America for many years, and by now is back there and, no doubt, showing this very precious possession to his family.

In a book entitled 'A Wiltshire Village' by Al Williams, a Pheobe Ferris is mentioned. Phoebe Ferris is stated to be the only daughter of the lock-keeper, John Ferris, who, in and around 1891 lived at the lock-house on the canal through the village. (It doesn't say so, but this was the Wilts & Berks canal).

It gives no other information about her, but says she had three brothers, Shadrach, Meshach and Frank. The latter two helped their father with lock duties, but Shadrach couldn't because he was blind.

Nevertheless he became a skilled wood turner and carpenter and repaired agricultural machinery, then later spent time being educated and went on to run his own business as an electrician!.

John Ferris and his wife (not named) moved into Swindon later, but ended up in the workhouse.

Although I know little about George, I have a special feeling for him.

On my last visit to England in July 1995, I went to the Yatesbury church to check on a tombstone of William Caswell.

As I entered the yard I saw a man cutting the grass. He stopped and we chatted a while. He knew who I was and proceeded to tell me many stories about George's parents. His name was Fred James Goddard.

Then he looked up and said he had something for me back at his house.

We went back to 4 The Lymers and he presented me with George's bible. Inscribed inside - George William Caswell -with love from his Father & Mother on his 17th Birthday. Nov 25th 1910.

When Pheobe was old and alone, Fred's mother looked after her. She gave her George's bible in appreciation for the care. Fred and his wife felt that I should have it, so it is now, once more, in the family's hands. I was very moved by this warm gesture.

Avebury residents well remember the pony and trap driven by James Henry Caswell, nephew to the sisters. They recalled the trap sat outside the bakery, with hundreds of sparrows chirping and busily eating the crumbs from the fresh bread. A favorite with villagers were the 'Dodgers' a crusty bread roll.

In the 1891 census Alice is listed as being at ThomasTilly's (aged 6 9) house, who was a baker and grocer. SHe is said to be a companionof Rhoda Ti lly (aged 20 yrs) and was 22 yrs old herself.

In an entry from the school log book for Avebury, is the following note.
On June 23 1880 "The Rev. B. King, Mrs King and Miss Peelgave Mrs. P eel's prizes for needlework to the girls. The first prize was taken by Emil y Deacon, the second by Alice Caswell".

In a letter from Susan Arnold, curator of The Wiltshire Life Societ y at The Great Barn, Avebury, she summarises the situation as follows:

To try and make sense of all this, (she means the censusreports) - i t seems that Louisa Caswell carried on the family business as a baker and grocer after the death of her husband in 1880. She is listed as having 2 sons at home in 1891, James aged 24 yars and John aged 16 years. Her daughters are not mentioned at this address, but from other sources we canstate that Alice would have been 23 years old and Louisa (she means Mary Louisa).When Louis a senior dies in 1909 we find that the listing in the trade directories also changes from 'L. Caswell' to 'Misses Caswell'. So Alice leaves theTilly bakery and returns home to carry on the bakery business with her sister. They also virtually bring up their nephew James, son of George Henry.

Birth: 6 Jul 1872, Avebury

Death: 1910, Calne

Father: James Caswell (16 Dec 1832-)

Mother: Louisa Holland (17 Jul 1834-4 Jun 1909)

George died from a fall outside the White Hart in Calne. He stumbled on the cobblestones, coming out of the pub, after delivering bread.

All the business records and debts to his bakery were in his head. He had NOT been drinking.

The 1881 census shows George to be 8 yrs old, living with his mother, who was head of house, and a scholar.

George and his family lived at 53 London Road Calne, where they ran their bakery.

Many years later, Sarah lived with a friend and lodger, through her old age.

Spouse: Sarah Amelia Gooding (5 Apr 1874-)

Birth: 5 Apr 1874, Froxfield

Death: Trinity Calne Wi

Father: Richard Gooding (1831-1881)

Mother: Sarah Ellen Pike (1840-Jun 1893)

When her husband died tragically, she sold the bakery business to the 'Wiltshire' family in Calne. They carried on a bakery from London Rd & Church St in Calne, under the name Maslen's Bakery.

The Wiltshires ran a number of grocery stores in the surrounding towns, and eventually sold the business to Gateway Supermarkets in the 1970' s. Born at 10 Mill Lane Streatham London

On her marriage certificate, she was residing at Froxfield at the time of the marriage.

Witnesses were her father, Richard Gooding and possibly her mother, Eleanor Mabel Gooding.

Sarah always used to give her grandson tuppence when he called lunchtimes, so he could buy biscuits.

Roland Robbins worked in the Caswell bakery at 53 London Rd, and went to live with my grandmother at 111 London Rd., says Jim Caswell.

Richard Jack

At the age of 14 he was given a 'poormans' apprenticeship by the Baydon Trust.

This was as a result of his father dying when he was only 10, leaving his mother almost penniless. He was ashamed of his 'poormans' apprenticeship. Dick made numerous small items of furniture for his home, mostly from English oak. His employment was mainly at the Harris bacon factory, where he was a carpenter, and he also occasionally dressed the mill stones for the mill in Mill lane - near Doctors Pond.

He also helped construct the Calne fire engine, of which there is a picture hanging in the Wiltshire County Fire HQ at Potterne.

A keen gardener, renting an allotment in The Pippin, he grew all the vegetables for his family and enjoyed carnations. There were always fresh flowers (usually carnations) on his dining table.

He enjoyed a pint at the Liberal club, and went every night from 7-9pm. He also enjoyed taking snuff, and had numerous small wooden snuff boxes. His house at Oxford Rd was rented from the Westons in The Pippin.

He kept chickens, for occasional meat & eggs.

He was born in 10 Mill Lane Streatham London, which I presume to be his mother's parents' place, as she is recorded as living there when she got married.

During the 1st world war he was in the navy, as a stoker. A job he did not enjoy and which made him rather anti-establishment.

He was an excellent artist and would entertain his grand children by drawing sketches of thatched cottages with small ponds, ducks and other country animals.

When his son asked him how he felt about his father dying when he was so young, he said "How the bloody hell would you feel if your father died when you were 10!"

Spouse: Alice Kathleen Granger (-1960)
Birth: 28 St Pauls, Langley Burrell, Wllts
Death: 1960
Father: Thomas Granger
Mother: Emma Broomsgrove (1870-)

Her best friend was Queenie Stockdale, who was also Godmother to her grandson Michael James Caswell.

Born at 28 Park Lane St Pauls Langley Burrell w/i

Married in Parish Church St Pauls Chippenham

Buried in the same church.

Kath was a well known soprano singer in the St Marys Church in Calne . She enjoyed her church, and for years attended with Queenie.

She & Dick took their grandson Michael on holiday to Totnes, Devon, on a number of occasions.

The trip was by steam train, which followed the coastline and crossed the river Dart.

There were relatives in Totnes where they stayed, usually for 2 weeks.

Dick called her 'Dreamy' because she would tend to day dream. She liked to wear large hats with larger pins, and dark blue, white spotted frocks.

Kath & Dick had a dog called Sam. He lived under the sideboard & bit everyone who dared go under there, including Dick.

A letter from Roy Bailey, who was in the same choir as Kathleen.

When I first knew her I was only a lad of ten or eleven so you will have to do with a boys view. First impressions--- a large but not fat lady with glasses, hat, and an enormous fox fur round her shoulders . As I said before, I am sure that if she let rip she could have shattered a glass at fifty paces. The other leading soprano on the other side was Mrs Stokes, also from Oxford Road, her husband was the leading bass who later became Mayor of Calne. On her left was Mrs Stockdale, Leading contralto, also from Oxford Road. These were not the only ones, infact, that road seemed to dominate the choir in those days. On very rare occasions she took us for choir practise but we were not allowed to get away with anything.

Although she had glasses she also had eyes like a hawk. I am sure that if she had had the right training and opportunity (which of course didn't happen to working people when she was young) she could have made it into opera without much difficulty. She had the power, pitch and was able to hold a note for a long time, in other words she had singers lungs. As far as personal details are concerned I'm sorry I can't really help as I only knew her as one of the choir ladies . Hope this is of some help----

Just got back from Chippenham to see Dad and collect Rich.He is devastated as he thinks his Gramp died because he helped him get outof bed.It seems that Dad tore the neck brace off and was struggling for air as hesat up and when Rich and the nurse helped him into the chair he had aseizure.The nurse immediately called the doctors and they tried in vain toresuscitate him.Rich kept blaming himself, sobbing that he shouldn't have helped him up. I told him it wasn't his fault or anyone else's. We talked the other daysaying that we didn't think he was going to be able to go home as he was so poorly and then dismissed it assuring ourselves he would get better after the transfusion. Rich held his hand and said "Gramps still has his watch on" so I took it off and gave it to him telling him that his Gramps would have wanted him to have it. My thoughts at the moment are with Richard. He didn't deserve that, even though he has done many stupid things in his life. He will carry that forever. The nurse told me that due to the fact Dad has recently had surgery there will have to be another autopsy. I have to go to Chippenham again tomorrow to fetch his belongings. Again there is going to be a delay before we can lay Dad to rest. Why can't these things be straightforward for us? Love you Mikey Look forward to a hug.

The following was read out at the funeral at St James Church Avebury by his son.

Over 2 thousand years ago, the British Warlord and Celtic warrior Cassivellaun fought the Roman Emperor Julius Caesar, and beat him off. A few years later, Caesar returned with more men and technology, and conquered this land. Cassivellaun retreated to the west along the wooden Celtic roads that lead here, the final resting place of Celtic kings and warriors.

Over a thousand years ago, the Caswells owned a castle not 30 miles from here in Curbridge, near Whitney. The Domesday book records Caswell Castle as being 'abandoned' in 1088. The remains of the castle stand to this day.

Only 300 years after that, we find William Caswell, rector of Witney church and owner of Caswell Farm near Whitney, the site of Caswell Castle, living in Yatesbury and trading in wool. He was surely responsible for starting the considerable fortune that was amassed (and later lost) by this family in the 16 & 1700s.

Since then, the Caswells have inhabited this area to the present day, and from hereabouts, have spread their genes to all corners of the world.

Who are they, these Caswells?

You only have to look at Jim Caswell to realize this.

Dad was never afraid of technology, and he handed this down to all his descendants

In 1953, he was the first person in our street to purchase a television. I vividly remember all the neighbors peering in through the windows and cramming our front room to watch the Coronation.

He was driving his own car, long before most others had one. He restored this old Standard 12 himself, rebuilding the engine in his shed, and scraping in the white metal bearings by hand.

He was always able to explain to me how things work. He'd help me put things back together, when I'd taken them apart 'just to see how they worked'. He didn't teach me to put away his tools though, and was always cussing me when he'd run over a good chisel or spanner with his lawnmower.

At 72 he surprised us all and bought a computer. He mastered the basics in a few months.

I asked him once to teach me un-armed combat- and he refused. Instead, he armed me with two things, a fishing rod, to teach me patience, and a pen, which, as my adversaries have found, is mightier than any sword.

My father was, in many ways, a quiet man.

All he wanted from life was fun. He had a WICKED sense of humor, was as honest as the day is long, and was generally a peaceful person who kept his business to himself. A proud and conscientious man. Yet he was also a warrior! His chariot was - a submarine!

On the day of the relief of Singapore from the Japanese, HMS Sybil was the first British submarine to surface in Singapore harbour. That day, the White Ensign flew on the flagstaff of the ship. At dusk, the flag was lowered and stowed in a locker.

My father was the Chief Petty Officer on HMS Sybil, and, in a moment of 'silliness or euphoria' he went to the locker, and took the flag for himself, believing it had some significance.

During my childhood, I often saw this flag and wished we had a flagpole to fly it on, but that was not to be in England.

A few years ago, my Dad gave me the flag, and I flew it on numerous occasions on my flagpole in the USA - just for the hell of it.

Eventually, I sold the flag to a man in Singapore, (I gave the money to my Dad) and now the flag will be displayed for the enjoyment of the people of Singapore on special occasions.

The point here is that Dad thought he had committed a 'terrible crime against his King and country' and was really worried that the authorities would arrest him for swiping this flag over 50 years ago. It took a lot of persuading to convince him that he'd done a good thing and had preserved a unique piece of history for the people of Singapore!

Many years ago, my Dad told me of how he became a diving instructor in the Navy.

He was in charge of the diving tank in Portsmouth. A huge tower, several hundred feet deep, full of water, with hatches at different depths.

Sub-mariners would enter a hatch, with their breathing gear on, and the hatch would be flooded. They would then escape to the surface. When the 'establishment' thought you had the qualities to become an instructor, they would place you in the lowest hatch, and then, when the hatch was flooded, they would watch the breathing bag on your chest to see when you had breathed out. At soon as they saw you were on 'empty', they'd pull the breathing gear from you, and kick you out into the tower. By the time a diver had reached the surface, he had swallowed gallons of water, and was dragged unceremoniously to the waters edge, where he was pumped out.

This was the initiation ceremony my father passed. He became a Royal Navy Diving Instructor.

And yet, only last year, when he visited us, we suggested to him that he swim in our pool, and he said, "I can't go swimming, because I can't float!" I have a feeling it was more the water temperature he was afraid of.

I recently asked Dad why he quit the Royal Navy so early, because he was SO PROUD of being a Submariner. I loved it as a small child, because Navy brats were something special, and everyone lavished much attention upon me. But when we moved to Calne, and he took on a comparatively dull engineering job at Harris's, the family's income was drastically reduced, as was the attention on me. Its no wonder I could never stand the place.

He explained that he quit the Navy because he was so scared after an incident on HMS Akron. The sub went into a dive, and things went wrong, the nose tilted down, and it headed for the bottom of the North Sea, out of control. Everyone was in chaos, including the captain, but Dad told me he figured out what was wrong, and scrambled about the sinking ship, blowing valves here and there, without any orders to do so. Obviously the ship surfaced, rather unceremoniously.

But it scared him badly. (I think he felt some great discomfort in actually admitting this to me) And so, shortly after, he left the Navy for a quiet, rural life, where he could be with his friends and family, to play golf, snooker, cricket, and go fishing. He wasn't ambitious, --- far from it, ---- but now I understand why.

I was very fortunate to have Dad visit me in the USA last summer when I learned about all of this. For the first time, I really began to understand him. I only wish we'd been given a little more time together. We had planned for him to stay with us for the entire summer next year to attend his two eldest grandsons weddings (they and their fiancés have traveled here from Canada to honor him).

I was planning a great fishing trip for him on Lake Ontario this summer, Andi told me he was really looking forward to it.

It is with a heavy heart that, today; I take on the responsibility of becoming the Head of this branch of the Caswell family. I pray that the all the forces present in Avebury give me the strength to look after my father's daughter and his grandchildren, and keep them from harms way.

And finally, we must mention all the people charged with his care over the past few months.

Dyer, Harris, Tordevan, Slade and nursing staff of Chippenham Community and Royal United Hospitals. Without their efforts, we wouldn't be here today!

I am sure that the lack of care, and all the efforts my father made to look after my mother over the past few years, have accelerated my fathers passing. It was almost as if Dad managed to override his ailing health, as he labored after caring for my mother. But when she passed, the relief from the toil just overtook him, and he rapidly deteriorated.

But, maybe my Dad just couldn't live without his sweetheart. He recently told me she was the prettiest woman in Wiltshire!

Shortly, my fathers' remains will be placed beside those of my mother, who departed this life only 11 weeks and one day ago. They will lie in the ancestral grave of my 4th great grandfather Joseph Caswell, in Avebury ---- with its protective circle, ---- its Celtic past ----- and Christian present.

What more fitting, final resting place, could there be, for an English warrior!

Subject: Your Mum

I have been asking around at College and have heard a few tales about your Mum. First of all everybody called her Mrs Caswell. She was never called by her christian name and even those who knew her very well didn't know her first name. It was a well known fact that she was always collecting money for numerous charities, was full of news and listened to peoples problems.

I rang Graham to ask if he would write down a few words to be read on behalf of the College, and the piece he sent me is below.

Luv Tess xxx

Mrs Caswell worked at the Chippenham College for many years (16) running the reprographic section seeing the technology change from the old fashioned Banda Machines through to modern Copiers. She was a real character known to every member of staff. Her room was a hive of activity before College started each morning as staff were looking for the material they had submitted the day before. She made and sold marmalade, jam and chutney for charity as well as soft toys. New lecturers soon found out that the way to get their copying to the top of Mrs Caswell's pile was to buy one of her products. Unfortunately this goodwill only lasted until she had something else for sale.

Intensely proud of her family, if one asked how she was today, one would first have to listen to a full description of the state of her health, and then look at and admire the photographs of the family which were updated regularly and displayed on the walls of the print room.

Kind hearted, Mrs Caswell was also interested in everyone else's family and consequently became a mine of information. The reprographic section was a sort of village shop where everyone gathered and where the service and camaraderie was good.

It is some time now since she retired but those at the College who remember her, do so with considerable affection.

Graham Baskerville

The following was read out at the memorial service in Avebury by her son Mike.

Good afternoon everybody!

This is my wife Carol - my shoulder to lean on.

I'd like to thank you all for making the trip to Avebury today.

This church is a VERY special place to me, surrounded by the CELTIC pagan history within the ancient Circle of Stones.

I get great solace from the fact that my mother enjoyed coming here, and that this will be her final resting place.

She will be alongside generations of Caswells who were blacksmiths and bakers in this village, and who worshipped their god in this church.

She often sat in these pews and just enjoyed the peace and harmony here.

Perhaps it was because she was the descendant of one of the CELTIC Kings of Ireland!

She was - a KENNEDY!

I borrow this narrative from a book called 'The Irish Kennedys!'

Descended from the Kings of Thomond, the O'Kennedys held their ancestral lands for hundreds of years while a succession of English conquerors tried to take it from them. Although they eventually succeeded in taking the lands, the English did not do so without fierce resistance from the family they dubbed -"The Rebellious O'Kennedys".

Mum was a redhead, as were all the O'Kennedys!

If any of you have ever had anything to do with redheads, (only my eyebrows are still that color now) then you'll have some idea of the fire and passion that comes along with such a person. My dad and us kids soon learnt to duck the flying objects in the kitchen when she was roused.

I have some words from Mum's grandkids around the world.

My Son Lance, in Canada

The two things I remember about Nan are:

1 - Nan's hugs - they were completely all encompassing, warm and sincere. They were the best hugs I've ever gotten. She used to wrap herself around me and squeeze very tightly, but not too tight, just enough to show that she loved us very much.

2 - Nan's mushy peas - they were the highlight of any Sunday dinner at Nan's house. The big, marrowfat ones. We never had them anywhere else. They had a chewy consistency and were very salty, like chewy pea soup, with nice lumps in them. Mix that with some mint jelly, and for a dessert a little individual Yorkshire pudding with golden syrup, and it was the perfect meal.

From my son Jonathan in Canada

I feel as if there is a lot I could have talked about with my grandmother.

Of all the things she means to me, honest, caring and nurturing seem to best describe her.

I always think about coming to her house and finding her sat in the corner knitting something. She would rise up, come towards us and smother us with hugs and kisses. She would pull us in close and call us her "lovelies", and then squeeze us to pieces. To me, she was exactly what a grandmother should be.

FROM PENHAURA HAUMA (my deceased sister Gillian's husband) and their son Katsy

TUVALU South Pacific

I was very sorry to hear from Katsy last night about your mum's passing.

Katsy went to work at the National Bank of Tuvalu last night, so was able to receive your email.

He was so upset about the news that he found it very difficult to talk to me over the phone.

I called him home and I tried to comfort him.

Your mother was a very special person to me, Mike.

In fact, she was more like a second mother than a mother-in-law to me.

Even when Gillian was alive, she communicated to us as if we were both her own children; and never for a moment did she make me feel uncomfortable.

When Gillian was taken away from us, she dutifully and unselfishly kept us informed of the news of home and kept on reassuring me that Katsy always had a home in England to come to, should I found it too difficult to look after him.

Katsy was too young to understand the meaning of his grandmother's care and will probably never appreciate it the way I did and still do.

As I recall her letters while typing this message now, I cannot help the tears slowly filling up my eyes and running down my nose on to the keyboard of my computer.

As her only son, you may ask what is the most memorable thing I have of my mother.

There are many things, but the one that shaped my life more than anything was the day she stuffed a five pound note (a weeks pay) into my hand as I left to live in Bournemouth, and told me to get out of Calne and seek my fortune!

I was only 16 yrs old. I am eternally grateful for her approval and encouragement to go out into the world and better myself!

Over the past few years, my father, to his own detriment, spent his every waking hour looking after Mum as she deteriorated.

It was a pretty tough job, which he did virtually alone, without complaint, lovingly and willingly.

I feel that I must mention the social services and health departments who cared for my mother over the past few years.

Their efforts were under financed, too slow, too late, and incompetent.

The bureaucracy is in need of repair.

I wonder if my mother's Kennedy ancestors would have tolerated it without rebellion!

Only a few days ago, I heard that science has found the beginnings of a cure for Alzheimer's. They feel that within 10 years there will be some sort of injection, which will stop the deterioration of the brain cells. Not soon enough for my mother, but maybe soon enough for hers - and your grandchildren.

We are so close - please - help rid the planet of this terrible disease,

AND I PROMISE YOU, my Mum will give YOU A HUGE HUG when she meets up with you again!

"Gillie" was educated at Calne Secondary School, initially, where she was a star pupil. She was the only pupil to move to the Calne Bentley Grammar school to take extra studies prior to going to art school in Bath.

Gillie won a teaching position at a Leytonstone school teaching art to a mainly black class. This gave her the edge she required to gain her next position teaching black children in the Bahamas, at Nassau. She had a three year contract, which was only renewable to Bahamians. On her return to England she joined the dole queue, as there was a glut of art teachers. She found an ad for an art teacher in the Gilbert & Ellis Islands, SPacific, but it was over a month old, and she was not inclined to apply, thinking it was too late, but her brother (me) persuaded her, as he felt there would not be many people with her experience. He also phoned on her behalf and after explaining her credentials, was asked to get her to apply.

About 2 months later, Gillie flew out from Heathrow airport, saying goodbye to Mike & Carol, who took her to the airport. She flew to Fiji, went by steamer to Funafuti, and canoe to Tuvalu.

She married Penhura Hauma, a local school principal. Almost everyone on the island turned out for the wedding, and everyone wore flower garlands typical of SPacific islands.

Gillie seemed extremely happy with Pen. They built a house on land owned by Pens family. The house was surrounded with palm trees and on the beach. Pen would walk out onto the coral reef and catch Bonito (a fish) with his hands and they would usually eat it raw.

Gillie caught hepatitis. The doctor was on another island, and a storm blew up. The doctor could not get to her in time, and Gillie died. Penhura told me that he believed the witch doctors had something to do with it, as they did not approve of him marrying a white girl.

Gillies body was brought to the island in a canoe decked with flowers , followed by dozens more canoes. The entire population from all the local islands waited on the shoreline for her. Pen brought his son Katsy Jamesto Englan d to see his relations, some months after Gillies death.

Jim was a bit of a lad!

He was well known in the area for enjoying the company of ladies, and had a particular friend in the Bristol area.

He also enjoyed beer!

He would go on the bakery round on 'collection day' and promptly spend most of the takings in 'The Red Lion'.

He died in Swindon, in hospital.

I have made note of another entry in the Avebury register:

1828 13 Feb Sarah d of Timothy & Ann born 23 Mar 1827

As the date I had originally entered for the baptism is off by exactly 1 year,

I have assumed this is a typo and not another child's baptism.

More research needed.

Timothy

I have placed the record of Diana Caswell and her father Timothy, with this Timothy Caswell, as there are no other suitable candidates for this. More research is required in the Ogbourne & Aldbourne areas.

VOLUME 12; page 75

"Sir William Longespee gave land in Upham to Lacock abbey c. 1249. The Abbey held Upper Upham at the Dissolution and in 1540 the Crown sold the manor to John Goddard (d. 1557). It passed to his son Thomas (d. 1598) and grandson Richard Goddard (d. 1614), whose relict Elizabeth and her husband Richard Digges held it in 1626. Upper Upham may have passed with Swindon manor in the Goddard family during the late 17th century but had apparently been sold by the early 18th. In the mid 18th century it passed from John Grove to Francis Grove, perhaps his son, and in 1780 it belonged to Timothy Caswell, who was succeeded in 1802 by his daughter Diana (fl. 1831)."

SIR,

You will be pleased to peruse this Abstract, and in case you have any Objection to any or either of the Proprietor's Claims, you are requested to reduce the same into Writing, and send it to the Commissioners at their next Meeting, to be holden at the Crown Inn in ALDBOURN, on Tuesday the 27th Day of May Instant, in Order that the Party may be summoned to Appear and Substantiate his or her Claim, at such Time and Place as the Commissioners shall appoint for that Purpose.

I am, Sir,

Your obedient humble Servant,

JAMES HALL,

Clerk to the Commissioners

HUNGERFORD,

May, 1806.

Entry in Avebury register

Mary Caswell buried Mar 6 1722 in woollen.

The term 'wrapped in woollen' is frequently found in these registers.

In the Overton register I found the following notation,

The act of Parliament compelling deceased persons to be buried in 'sheeps wool only' was passed in the reign of Charles II

There was a tax levied on the wool!

Richard & Hester were married at St James Church, South Broom, Devizes.

Hester signed her name as CASSWELL on the 'intestate' document of her husband, so I must presume Richard also spelt it that way and have altered his name to show this.

Spouse: Hester Pope (22 Oct 1684-abt 1741)

Death: abt 1741, of Cherhill
Birth: 22 Oct 1684, Devizes
Father: John Pope (1636-1709)
Mother: Joan Pavie (abt 1659-abt 1735)

The IGI shows Richard & Esther to be married.

Hester signed the document showing her husband died intestate in 1730 . As her will below, shows her to be 'weak in body' i have presumed she could not write because of illness!

The Will of Hester Casswell

In the name od God Amen, I Hester Castle of Cherill in the County of Wilts, wido being weak in body but of perfect mind and memory, praise be therefore given to Almighty God, do make and ordain this my present last will and testement in manner and form following (that is to say)

Mother: Hester Pope (22 Oct 1684-abt 1741)

According to Ken Rogers' notes, Richard was living in Rowde when he was married.

In the WRO Rowde transcripts register, Richard & Ann are recorded as being married on Mar 26 1733.

Perhaps this Richard is the builder of the beautiful thatched cottage known as Caswell's House. His granddaughter Ann married a William Rawlings.

CASWELL'S HOUSE at Cherhill

This house, better known locally as the Shakespearian House, is one of the most picturesque in the village. It was restored in 1939. Mr R Rawlings states that it was built by one of his forefathers -named CASWELL about the year 1770. It is shown on a map of the parish dated 1780, and marked "Caswell's Holding"; evidently it was a small farmhouse and was used as such until well into the nineteenth century when it was converted into two cottages.

Benj. Aldridge. No bill Committed Mar 2nd by Thomas Bythesea Esq. being charged on Suspicion of felony, in stealing a piece of gold value nine shillings, the property of Richerd Caswell of Trowbridge,baker.

Calender of Prisoners in the County Gaol

The family vault is in the churchyard of the Trowbridge Parish Church.

The only inscription is " RICHARD CASSWELLS'S FAMILY VAULT"

In an entry in the Universal British Directory 1793-8, forTrowbridge , Wilts, under under the heading GENTRY, is Mr Richard Casswell

I have started to correctly spell the surname here, as we have now found Richard's descendants in Canada & the USA & they still spell the name this way.

Much of the research into Richard Casswell's family was done for me b y Mr Ken Rogers, Wiltshire County Archivist, and he is responsible for finding the many brothers & sisters of Edwin Casswell through a deed he found.

On Ken's records, Richard is noted as a baker and pastrycook.

His will is at Chancery Lane PCC London England, and I will hope to obtain a copy. The will was proved on 10 July 1809.

Witnesses to Richard & Ann's wedding were Ann & Joanne Cook. They both lived in Trowbridge.

In July 1995, Carol & Mike Caswell vacationed in England with their son Jonathan. They attended the wedding of their nephew Stephen Groves and Mandy Hillman, in St James Church, Trowbridge. At the same time they arranged for the complete repair and restoration of the family vault of Richard Casswell. The work was carried out by James Long Ltd, of Trowbridge, and funded by contributions from Beverly Casswell George and her family,and money from the sale of 'Our Caswell Relatives -book 2' by Mike Caswell.

At this time it was discovered that a number of the bells in the church were inscribed with Richard Casswell's name, as he was the church warden of the time.

The bells are numbers 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, & 10

The inscriptions read:- Jas Wells. Fecit 1800

S. Watton & Richard Casswell Churchwardens.

The largest bell, which does not bear the Casswell name, only James Wells, Aldbourne, Wilts, Fecit 1800, has also inscribed, "May all summon to the grave The blessing of a well-spent life receive".

Many of the bells were re-cast in 1934.

These bells are rung twice a week, Sunday 9.45 am to 10.24am and Wednesdays at 7.30pm to 9pm. And a lovely noise they make!

Mr Brian Coward, (Tower Captain) was kind enough to let me inspect the bells and take photographs, during my visit to the church in 1995.

Inclosures Awards.

North Bradley and Southwick. Award 17 April 1807 part of Rode Common to Richard Caswell.

Beverly George has some notes made by an ancestor which mention a family ring which is passed down from one 'Richard Casswell' to another. the first Richard Casswell to have worn 'The Casswell Ring' died June 8 1809 76 yrs old, with a lock of his hair enclosed. So, our Richard Casswell of Trowbridge, churchwarden, gentleman, baker, has passed down his name and his ring for almost 200 years.

Richard's baptism records were located by Roger Mawby, search agent, 1995.

Richard moved to Trowbridge by 1760. He bought 2 houses on Back Street, now Church Street, on the site of the present Cooperative Stores. He left his residency real estate in trust for his grandson, James Casswell, son of his son, James who was already dead.

The notes with transcription: these are transcription of WRO 206/7 c1750-1837, 1839-50.

The later documents which just record rents paid for period 1874-93 (WRO 206/8) do not include any Caswells.

It is stated that it is not clear in the originals whether "death" applies to previous or subsequent name. Because this documentation is now linked with the person's family history, we can see quite clearly that 'death' referred to the latter name.

The burial records of Mary Slade state she was born in 1774 and 'of Baynton'.

The marriage entry in the records of St James Church read as follows:

Henry Slade of the parish of Hilperton and Mary Casswell of this parish were married in this church by licence this thirteenth day of September in the year One thousand seven hundred and ninety two by me John Batchelor Minister. This marriage was solemnised between us Henry Slade Gunstone (sic), Mary Casswell in the presence of Jane Ball, Mary Wilkins.

There is no baptismal record for Henry or his sister Lucretia. They were never baptised, as they were illegitimate. Henry called himself Henry Slade, but when it came to signing the register at his wedding, he signed his real name (after the minister had written 'Henry Slade'. So, there, before God, he was telling the truth.

In Richard Casswell's will, Henry is mentioned as being 'of Baynton'. Perhaps this is the first mention of a property there.

The Bishops Transcripts for Hilperton show the entry for the burial of Henry, as Henry Gunstone Slade, of Edington, aged 81.

The entry in the Edington register reads:

James Caswell of the parish of Bratton in the parish of Westbury Wilts, Batchelor and Susannah Gunstone Slade of this Parish spinster were married in this church by licence with consent of each being 21 yrs of age this 30th day of September 1819. Witnesses - Henry Gunstone Slade, Wm Price, Maria Slade, B (smudged) Brown. This latter entry was probably related to Henry Slade Brown, the husband of Su's recently deceased sister Ann Gunstone Slade. Perhaps it was Henry's new wife? The B Brown signature can be seen on WM. Price' s & Mary Gunstone Slade's marriage records.

In 1819 James lived at Bratton, later he is recorded as being 'of Dilton Farm, Westbury'.

Report in the Daily Sentinal Review, 22 Sept 1904.

Maj. CASSWELL DEAD.

Former Woodstock Resident Died Suddenly in Belleville.

Belleville, Ont Sept.22. Major Albert Casswell died last night suddenly. He was born in Wiltshire, England, in 1821, and was a member of the Royal Wiltshire Yomanry. In 1850 he came to Canada, living in Prince Edward Island , Nova Scotia, Montreal and Woodstock. Ont. For the last 20 years he had resided in this city. He was a veteran of the Fenians Raids, and was a mason and a Conservative. Major Casswell leaves a widow and one son and four daughters.

On Ken Rogers' notes, Albert was recorded as living in West Oxford, Canada in 1865, and Digby, Nova Scotia in 1877.

The Daily Sentinal review dated Thursday Oct 17 1901 reports the following:

GOLDEN WEDDING

Celebrated by Major Casswell a former West Oxford Man.

Postmaster McClenneghan and others of the earliest residents of Woodstock still living here will remember Major Casswell, formerly of West Oxford and a brother of the late Edward Casswell of Ingersoll, once a widely known dairyman and cheese buyer of this country. All these and not a few others will be interested in reading the following report from the Belleville Inte lligence of oct 8 of the recent celebration of the golden wedding of Major Casswell and his wife.

The major is a veteran of '66 and is a member of the Oxford veteran Association, as well as that of the Bay of Quinte. The Sentinal review joins heartily in the felicitations tendered to Major Casswell and his wife on the happy event herewith described.

Of course you know the major. Not a soul in Belleville but knows and admires the sturdy old English gentleman, who, though crowding onto his eightieth birthday, walks with the erectness of a young fellow of 50. Though time has silvered his hair, it has not dimmed his spirit, dampened the ardour of his patriotism nor weakened the enthusiasm with which he follows the Golden Rule. Truly one of nature's noblemen is Major Casswell, who with his estimable wife and family, has been a resident of Belleville since 1885.

It would be impossible for the major to live anywhere without making friends-everything in this world finds its level, as the realists say - but the kindly old gentleman never in his wildest dreams imagined t hat he had so many friends as turned out to meet him and felicitate him last night,when, at his cozy residence on Bridge St. he celebrated the 50th anniversary of his marriage.

Perhaps the easiest way to explain things would be to give the marriage notice, as it appeared at the time.

CASSWELL-PAINE- At the United Church of England and Ireland, Woodstock, Upper Canada, British North America, by the rev. William Betteridge: B. D . Albert Casswell and Mary Elizabeth Paine both of Ingersoll, October the 7t h 1851.

And so last night surrounded by loving relatives and friends, the bride & bridegroom of fifty years made solemn thanks to God for their happy married life and the many blessings he had vouch safed them.

An "At Home" was held from 7 to 11, previous to which the thanks giving service was held. The clergymen taking partwere Revs. O C Elliot t and Robert Wallace of the Baptist Church and Rev. Canon Burke. Th e members of the family anda few intimate friends were present.

A few minutes after 7 the guests began to arrive, and then the ladies of the family say the major lost his presence of mind altogether.As tokens of esteem were rained upon him he fairly brokedown. 'Upon my word" , he exclaimed, "I had no idea I had so many friends in Belleville"

The house was literally a mass of flowers, which had been sent by friends to the happy couple. After congratulations were over the guests were entertained in a musical way.

Mrs. Campbell acted as accompanist: Miss Francis Casswell sang, as did also Mr.Milburn.

Regrets were expressed at the absence of many members of the family who, being scattered all over America, found it impossible to attend.

Among those present was Mrs. Thos. Hislop of Ingersoll, who was married one year before the Major and Mrs. Casswell, the latter lady being brides maid at his wedding. Mr. & Mrs. Hislop celebrated their golden wedding last year.

The function came to and end about 11 o'clock, when the guests formed two circles around the happy couple and sang 'Auld Lang Syne'Prof. Hunt played Mendelssohn's Wedding March as they retired.

Telegrams of congratulations were received from Montreal,Digby, NS . St. John, NB. and Chatham, NB. Letters of felicitation have been coming in on every mail for weeks past.

Following are the members of the Major's family, together with their places of residence:

Mrs. Flint, Toronto; Mrs Partridge, Petaluma, Cal.: Miss Casswell who is at present with Dr. Casswell at Gagetown, N.B, and Miss Frances Casswell at home.

During their 50 years of married life Mr. & Mrs. Casswell have never lost a child or grandchild.

The presents were numerous and simply magnificent, and they would make many a latter-day bride turn green with envy. They included a rosewood cabinet from the Baptist Church, and a gold pencil from the Masons of this city.

One of the most pleasing features of the evening was the presence o f the Fifteenth regiment in front of the house a few minutes before 11 o'clock. They came to show their respect for the Major as an 'old veteran ' and a man, and the mark of esteem was gratefully received. We heartily join in the parting words of the scores who were present last night, that the lives of the Major and his estimable wife may be spared for many years to come.

Connie Harris has the ceremonial sword of Major Albert in her possession. On it is inscribed:- London Rifle Brigade.

Trowbridge, 21st April, 1862

In 1865 Albert sold the Back Street property to the Trowbridge Cooperative Society.

In a book by Kenneth Rogers; 'The BOOK of TROWBRIDGE' Published by Barracuda Books 1984, the following was said about Galley Farm

"By 1688 Joseph Houlton the elder owned some 100 acres of land in Trowbridge and adjoining parts of Steeple Ashton, and also two copyholds, including one half of Galley Farm in Studley".

In some notes supplied by Beverly George :

CASSWELL - Suddenly at Digby, Nova Scotia on Tuesday February 22nd, D r J A
 Casswell, son of the late Major & Mrs Albert Casswell of Belleville , Ont in his 64th year.

James graduated in medicine in 1883, a gold medalist, from Bishop's Medical College (McGill University, Montreal). He practised in Brandon, Manitoba for 2 years, and spent about 34 years in Gagetown, New Brunswick . He left there in 1920.

Trudy Parker sent me the inscription from James' grave.

In loving memory of James A Casswell MD
born at St. Elinors P E I Jan 10 1858, died at Digby Feb 22 1921
"He giveth his beloved sleep"

Chapter about Temperance Societies , when and how they got started....and on page 213 Star of Peace No 468

.....having nineteen original members, was constituted at Rossway, November 22nd 1880, by District Deputy Francis Hitchinson, assisted by P.W.P. Albert Caswell of "Union" No 6 .

Rossway is on rte 17, between Digby and Petite Passage just going down Digby Neck, past the top end of St Mary's Bay. It was on a side road to the left to the waters edge. Today's map shows it at the jct with the Gullivers Cove Road., back in those days there was a Rossway and a Upper Rossway. The last one is no longer on the map.

P.W.P. is mentioned in the chapter for someone else and there its: Past Worthy Patriach.

Of all the Temperence Societys mentioned, for Digby Yarmouth/ and other mainland ones , none have such a low number as No 6.

I think he was a guest speaker at that meeting. and as you will find out later, as a minister , he was a minister of the day - mid 1800s

In a letter to me from her daughter connie, came the following item s of interest.

"My mother, Francis, often spoke fondly of her girlhood in Gagetown , New Brunswick, of boating trips and picnics, of sleigh rides in winter. The Saint John River seemed to be the focus of much of the activity. There were favorite cousins, and there were trips to Saint John and to Fredericton for family visits and for professional portrait taking. Mobility didn't seem to be a problem. My grandfather was a doctor and they had servants."

 Death: 1900, Utica

According to Ken Rogers' notes, James lived at 15 Leeds St East Utica, Onondaga, New York.

The 1875 Census shows James and family living in the 8th ward, south of the center of Mary Street & city of Utica of Oneida county New York, dated 8 June 1875. James was a laborer, naturalised and a land owner.

In the Utica City Directory, from 1878 to 1903 James was recorded as living at 15 Leeds St. From 1878 to 1895 he was recorded as being a gardener, but in 1896 though 1900 he was a florist.

In 1880 Federal census shows him as a gardener, with his wife Susannah, who was 'keeping house'. and their son Sidney (14 yrs) who was 'at school'.

In 1900 his wife 'Susan' (sic) was still living at 15 Leeds St, but she was a widow. In 1903 Sidney was still living in Utica, but 'Susan' was gone.

Father: James Casswell (abt 1789-23 Feb 1842)

Mother: Susanna Gunstone Slade (-28 Mar 1876)

Edwin was recorded in the LDS Ancestral file by Beverley George. I was able to connect the English & Canadian families because of Edwin's son's name & the note in Shirley Mayse's book "Our Caswell Relatives".

Edwin was buried in Ingersoll, as the Ingersoll Rural Cemetery records show.

Edwin Casswell left England and moved to Canada. He established the cheeseman's industry. He is said to come from a family of 16 (Records in family bible in Vancouver B.C.in Library or Museum). Son of James and Susanna Gunstone Slade Casswell, who were married 28 September 1819.

Obituary.

FELL DEAD IN HIS SHOP

Ed. Caswell, a pioneer Cheeseman. Dies Very Suddenly.

Was Sitting on a Box When He Rolled Onto The Floor-Apoplexy- He did Much to Build up the Cheese Industry, and Made a Fortune and Lost It.

Edward (sic) Caswell (sic), provision dealer, Market Lane, dropped dead at 11 o'clock yesterday. A few minutes previously he complained to one of his daughters, who was in the store, of feeling unwell, and he sat down on a box.

He was urged to go home; and was apparantly considering doing so when he suddenly fell over onto the floor and was dead. Dr Drake and Dr Woodruff were hurriedly summoned, but they saw at a glance that it was all over. Apoplexy with which the deceased had often been threatened, had done its work . Deceased was a stout man, and had enjoyed good health. He was over fifty years of age.

The news of the unfortunate affair spread rapidly, and a morbidly curious crowd blocked the lane, despite the efforts of two policemen to keep a passage clear. In the excitement someone telephoned for an ambulance, but of course it was not required.

Hon. Thos. Ballantyne, of Stratford, a warm friend of the deceased was just entering the store. He was almost overcome by the sad facts which greeted him.

The grief of the two daughters, Miss Minnie Caswell and Mrs Winters , of Ingersoll, who were present at the time, and of the boys who shortly arrived, was heart-rending. Mr Ballantyne and Mrs Winters left shortly to bear the news to the widow.

The late Mr Casswell was of English birth, but for the greater part of his life he had been a resident of Ingersoll. He was one of the pioneer cheesemen of the country. It was to men of his push, integrity , and intelligence that the country owes the immense cheese trade it enjoys today. Mr Casswell built up quite a fortune, but subsequently was unfortunate in business, and lost most of his wealth. Three years ago Mr Casswell and his family moved to this city, where they gained a large circle of friends. He was for a time manager of the Canadian Packing Company's establishment here. The family includes Mrs WInters, of Ingersoll, Misses Minnie and Susie and Adam, Charles, Will, and John, at home, and another son who is absent.

Another obituary supplied by Beverly George, reads:

Casswell - In London on Thursday Sept. 17 1896, Edwin Casswell aged 66 yrs 11 months, 7 days. The funeral started from his residence 516 York Street at 12 o'clock, to the railway depot to meet the 12.45 train for Ingersoll for interment.

An article from a book entitled 'Ingersoll, Our heritage'.

Edwin Caswell (sic) was born in Wiltshire, England in 1830 and came to Canada from Trowbridge, Wiltshire in 1849. He was in his early 20's and after arriving in Canada, became a travelling salesman and Public relations man for the Oxford Dairy Industry.

Arriving in the village of Ingersoll, he worked for Barker and Browelt, in the store on King St East. Sometime after working at the store, he became deeply involved in the business of cheese. He bought cheese on his own initiative for shipment to large Canadian centres to be sold.

When the first co-operative cheese factory started at Norwich in 1864, Caswell became a partner with Adam Brown of Brown, Gillespie & Co, of Hamilton, Ontario. They formed their own company and were the first to ship cheese from Ingersoll to England in the year 1865-66.

It seems the first shipment of cheese was lost when the boat was wrecked, their loss was about $3100. They had no suitable boxes to package the cheeses.

Finally, they used remodelled wooden barrels, but they proved quite a drawback because they split open or fell apart by the time the boat reached England.

However, Caswell and Adam Oliver, Ingersoll's first mayor, were conversing in Ingersoll's railway station about the box problem and it seems Adam Oliver did have a solution, he purchased a box manufacturing company from Buffalo, New York, USA. Then, they set up the box making plant in Ingersoll at Adam Oliver's work shop.

Brown and Caswell dissolved their partnership in 1895. Brown left for England, where he made many connections with the dairy industry and with many commercial houses.

Buying cheese involved a lot of travelling and the roads of those days needed much improvement. First Edwin Caswell had to contact the factories to buy the cheese, then back again to box and weigh and get it ready to ship to the market. Competition became very keen and the freight rates and insurance became very high. Quite often the cheese would be piled on the wharf at Toronto, Montreal or Hamilton. Then, in turn it became very difficult to inform buyers when the shipment would reach its destination. Caswell, at one time, took 11,000 tons. of boxed cheddar cheese in 30 (sic) railway cars full of the cheese to England and sold it all within 6 weeks.

He made a total of 55 trips across the ocean to further the industry of the dairy business. He exhibited cheese at the Continental Exhibition of 1874 held in Philadelphia. Here, Caswell ran into more problems. It seems too many area farmers did not want to sell their cheese for exhibit. Caswell and another man, Thomas Ballantyne of Stratford, Ontario, went themselves to the farms collecting cheese and to guarantee the cheese makers they would not lose anything on what was to be shipped to the exhibition. The exhibition was a great success and added to the already growing reputation of Canadian and especially Ingersoll cheese.

Caswell was president in the Dairyman's Association of Western Ontario four times. He retired to London, Ontario, and ran a small retail business until his death in 1896 at the age of 66. The home he lived in, in Ingersoll, is still standing on Charles St West, on the south side.

On Ken Rogers' notes Edwin was recorded as a 'cheese factor of Ingersoll, Ontario', in 1877.

According to John Keliher Jean was originally to have been names Jean Margereuita in part to honor Aunt Doris, his mother's younger sister . However, for reasons that had nothing to do with Aunt Doris but a great seal to do with the number of letters in 'Margereuita' they scrapped the original on the way to the baptism. The papers at the hospital carried the first name, the official birth certificate and baptismal certificate the second.

In a letter to Mike Caswell, on the subject of the familytree, John had this to say, "I am John Daniel Keliher, the last of my generation of this tribe. Genetically, I am predisposed to my father's Irish sentimentality. A loving people the Irish, when they are not trying to kill you. Unfortunately, the Irish marry late and bury early, but for all of that they reproduce wondrously. The Casswell's on the other hand, fought among themselves with distance for interlopers from outside the DNA - except for those whom married into the clan. My father was a 'yeasy runt' whose 112 lbs, set upon a fivefoot six bean pole, seemed to appeal to Bert, Josh and Alf. They did not allow him to get trampled in their mayhem - maybe they just needed a tenor!

I saw them from the knees up, the Aunts with their secrets which they shared ungrudgingly, the Uncles with their dreams. It was a heady brew.

Birth: 30 Oct 1902, Vancouver, British Columbia, Canada

Father: Richard Henry Gunstone Gibbs Slade Casswell (24 Feb 1858-10 Jul 1929)

Mother: Elizabeth Jane Bassett (7 Feb 1864-22 Jan 1935)

Joshua was a circus performer for Ringling Brothers

A Pretty Home Wedding

Of large social interest was the wedding of Joshua O Casswell and Miss Zelma Hoyt at home of the bride's brother in Irvington Wednesday evening, the Rev. John D. Rice officiating. The guests were relatives and intimate friends of the families of the contracting parties, and the function could not have been more nicely appointed. The groom is the son of Mr. & Mrs. R. H. Casswell, 739 Vanderbuilt Street, hence a member of one of our most highly respected families, and he is a young man with splendid sterling qualities and friends by the score. The bride is a talented winsome young lady, and is the daughter of Mr . & Mrs. A.E. Walker of Irvington. They will reside in University Park.

Josh was the tenth child born to R.H. and Elizabeth Casswell. He was the youngest of the four boys in the family. Fun loving and spirited , Josh was sometimes a concern to his family. In a postcard sent to an older son then living near Portland, OR, his mother had written "Please look out for Josh."

But he didn't always get things his way, as was evident in a story told by Lucille Casswell Heckman, Josh's niece.

"My sister, Lyall, and I were living with Grandmother and Grandfather Casswell. Uncle Josh was about seventeen years old at the time. One day, Lyall and I went out playing in the fields. We spotted an old apple orchard, trees loaded with fruit. We knew Grandma would love some, but we thought it was too far to go back to the house for bags. We decided to take off our bloomers and tie knots in the bottom of the legs. We filled those bloomers as full as we could get them, and hauled the fruit home. Uncle Josh came in the kitchen just as we were unloading the apples to wash. 'You can just throw that stuff away,' he said. 'I'm not eating any fruit that's been carried in some girl's bloomers!' Grandma kept on washing anyway . In those days you didn't throw anything away, and I think she was happy to have them. Besides, I never did see Uncle Josh turn down any of the apple pies that year."

A few days before his 23rd birthday, Josh married his first wife , Zelma Hoyte. They had two sons, Dave and Tom. The marriage didn't last, and the two boys left with their mother.

Josh's second wife was somewhat of a match for him. She didn't put up with his drinking, and one day my parents arrived at their house to see Uncle Josh running out the door with an airborne set of china in hot pursuit.

Maude stayed longer than Zelma, but eventually had her fill and left, too.

They had no children.

His third, and last, wife, Elsie, had children from a previous marriage. Their marriage was rocky as well. Uncle Josh was a fun person, he just couldn't solve his problem with alcohol, and no one else could live with it. Elsie left him after a few years, too.

Josh worked at various jobs. Off and on, he worked in the ship yards in Portland, Oregon. He loved to sing, but later in life lost his voice to throat cancer. He had a voice box installed, which was fascinating for me as a young girl to listen to.

Joshua Oxford Bassett Casswell died in the early 1960's. He is buried in Riverview Cemetery in Sellwood, Oregon, near his parents.

In the summer of 1996, Jack Day, Josh's nephew, located one of Josh's grandson's, Tom Casswell, who is living in California.

I have no other uncles. I do know that David and his wife did not have any children. They were both school teachers and according to Zelma that was children enough for them.

Also, David died of colon cancer, was the oldest of the two son's of Josh and Zelma. The where abouts of David's wife or her name is unknown to me.

person.

You never left her home without a part of her. My father LOVED her.

As a young girl, she married Mr. Alan Gordon-Leslie. They lived in Vancouver, B.C. when their children were young. Mr. Gordon-Leslie was "lent to gambling." Upon his return from one particular losing streak, he had to dismiss the nanny, stableman, and the housekeeper. He eventually left the family. The last time they heard from him was in 1910. Aunt Lotta took her children to Portland and had to place them in an orphanage. Her son became very ill, so she moved them out.

Later she married Merle Smith. They were married many years, until he passed away.

From a newspaper cutting.

Marine Hero in Isle Raid

Milwaukie Woman Mother of Officer

Lieutenant Alan Gordon leslie of Milwaukie, one of theheroic group o f marine flame throwers of whom two thirds gave their lives to burnthe japane se from their pillboxes on Tarawa, is the son of Mrs M L Smith anda brothe r of Lotta Raley, both of Milwaukie. First Lieutenant Leslie was oneof the firs t flame throwers to reach Tarawa. Moving directly into the face ofenemy mach ine guns he reached his objective and wilted defenders andbarricades alike wi th a searing blast from his'hot' weapon. In one attack his boatwas sunk u nder him and his flame thrower lost. He swam four miles to reachanother craf t, was reequipped and later wiped out three pillboxes. He lickedodds of 10- 1 he would be killed in raiding the main Jap pier and blowing up oil drums and t he end of the pier.

"Rough Deal' encountered.

In a letter written to his mother he said the 'really roughdeal' the y ran into in the Gilberts was not one he cared to talk about.

'Those of us who came out OK are immeasurably thankful toGod and th e ones who must have prayed for us. I guess he couldn't possibly lookafter ever yone, for I left some very fine boys on Tarawa and it is to these theAmerica n people owe a great debt. We in the marine corps know that without thesupreme s acrifice these men made, victory would have been impossible.

Lieutenant Leslie, who was wounded in the action, wasjumped from pri vate to lieutenant in seven months. Born in Vancouver BC, he waseducated i n Milwaukie and was in the electrical business in Portland and Seattlebefore joi ning the marines in May 1942.

Obituary

Sept 21 1904 - Feb 7 1993

Doris Margareuite Cooper, a former Corvallis resident, died Sunday of natural causes at the South Hills Health Care Center in Eugene. She was 88. She was born in Vancouver B.C. the youngest of eleven children born to Richard Henry Casswell and Elizabeth Jane Bassett.

At the age of 4, she moved with her family to Milwaukie, where she lived until moving to Corvallis in 1964. She lived in Corvallis until recently, when she moved to Eugene.

Mrs. Cooper was assistant personal director for Fred Meyer Inc of Portland until 1964. In 1965 she became the industrial library director for Flomatcher Inc. of Corvallis. She retired from there at the age of 76.

Mrs Cooper was a member of the Milwaukie School Board and the Milwaukie Library Board. She was cited for outstanding service as a civilian air defense spotter during World War II.

Survivors include her son, Jack. C. Cooper Sr. of Corvallis; daughter, Dolores (Gemoetes) of Corvallis; four grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren.

She was preceded in death by her husband, George. H. Cooper, and 10 brothers and sisters.

Funeral services will be held at 1pm. Friday, Feb. 12, at Riverview Cemetery Chapel in Portland. Burial will follow in the Riverview Cemetery. The Rev. Robert Graf will officiate.

McHenry Funeral Home in Corvallis is in charge of arrangements.

This obituary was run in the Fraser Valley Record, dated Jan 2 1957 . page 5.

Former Lacrosse Player, Sportsman C.E.Casswell Dies.

A member of Vancouver's first lacrosse team, Charles Edwin Casswell died Saturday, Dec 22 in Mission Memorial hospital in his 86th year.

Born in Ingersoll, Ont. Jan 1st 1871, Mr Casswell came to Vancouver at the age of twenty and in 1904, married Bertha J Meyer.

Handicapped at birth, Mr Casswell was advised to take up sports and eventually excelled in lacrosse, baseball and as a runner. He made six trips north during the gold rush, cooking for a living and turned this talent to running restaurants in B.C. and Alberta.

From 1910 to 1920 he farmed in the Lethbridge district and then came back to B.C. where he ran two restaurants in Vancouver and was a well known figure on the Fair grounds having served the public for 26 years, the last time at the age of eighty.

In 1934 he homesteaded on what is now Casswell Road.

Rev. E.V. Apps officiated at the funeral service Dec 24, in the Chapel of Mission Funeral Home and interment was at Hatzic cemetery.

Besides his wife, Mr Casswell is survived by a daughter, Mrs Edna Lynch and granddaughter, Lorraine Lynch.

The 1881 Canada Census records show William as 'Willie' aged 3 years.

The Ingersoll Rural Cemetery records show William as being buried there in 1910. No age was recorded, so I am somewhat suspicious that I have the right person for this burial.

Saanich Pen. & G. Islands Review July 1952

Obituary of William.

EARLY FARMER OF NORTH SAANICH DIES

A former well known pioneer citizen of North Saanich, William Martin Casswell passed away in Victoria on Sunday. He had resided in that city for the past five years.

The late Mr Casswell operated Mallamor Farm, at the corner of Wains Road and West Saanich Road, for many years. He started his farming operations in this district around the turn of the century. He operated a dairy farm and manufactured butter, taking his products daily to Victoria on the V. & S.

Railway.

The deceased also trained young Englishmen as farmers for many years . He left North a number of years ago to reside at Chemainus where he owned property and then moved to Victoria.

His widow, Mrs Maud Casswell, survives in Victoria. She is a sister of the late Bertie Blasson who resided on Sixth St. in Sidney until his death several years ago.

Funeral services were conducted from Hayward's B.C.Funeral Home on Wednesday afternoon and cremation followed.

According to Ken Rogers' notes, Joshua lived at Ryford, near Stonehouse, Gloucester, in 1877.

The 1881 census shows:

Honyatt Road, North Hamlet, Gloucester
 Sarah A Casswell wife aged 35 born Stroud

Thomas S Casswell son aged 7 born Stroud
Frank S Casswell son aged 6 born Stroud
Rose Maria Casswell daughter aged 3 born Stonehouse
Ann A Casswell daughter aged 2 born Stonehouse.

North Hamlet is a region of Gloucester city, covered by the parishes of St. Nicholas and St Mary de Crypt.

They were not living in Honyatt Rd on the 1891 census. But in the Gloucester Directories 1893 Smarts Gloucester Directory:

Caswell Joshua miller, 44 Weston Rd.

Also recorded in the 1897, and 1900 Smarts directory as being in the same place.

But in 1906, no Casswells were recorded in the Kellys directory

In an entry from the Wiltshire record Society from documents coded, 9 42, 31, 756W, vol 36, headed North Wiltshire page 99, is the following entry.

1563. & Jan 1788. Cherhill. James Caswell: suddenly died in a house or barn. 8 miles. 1 pound 6 shillings.

I think the mileage & monetary references were regarding the transportation of the body, as other entries revolved around this theme.

There are no other James Caswell's who lived in this period, and had a reason to be in Cherhill. This James' parents built Caswell's House in the village, so I am fairly sure I have logged this death entry against the right person.

The Bremhill baptism records state that Mary was the daughter of Edward & Mary Caswell, but to date I have no evidence of this union, so I can only presume the child was of Edmond & Judith and perhaps the vicar was at the sacramental wine!

In an entry in the Universal British Directory 1793-8 Vol 47 p 37, is an entry for a Mrs Kaswell, victualler of "The Blue Ball".

The pub is actually named 'The Blue Bowl Inn'. The building is still standing today, (1995) and is opposite the junction of Polebarn Rd.

Blue Bowls were a sign of punch-making (cf Punch Bowl). Blue was quite a cheap paint compared with other colours and also a lot of old crockery was blue and white. In the mid-18th century there were 5 Blue Bowls in the centre of Bristol alone, plus 2 more Bowls (no specific colour) and 3 Punch Bowls. Mind you, there were a lot of inns and alehouses then, sometimes 10 or more in a fairly short road and, of course, it was a port..

Spouse: Mary Gibbs (-21 Jan 1849)

Death: 21 Jan 1849

Father: John Gibbs

Mother: Thomasin Williams

For some time I was unsure that Mary Gibbs was the Mary mentioned in the will.

The discovery of Richard Henry Gunstone GIBBS Slade Casswell in Canada reinforces that I had chosen the right Mary as James' wife.

Richard Casswell and Maria Morley were witnesses at the wedding. Richard's other daughter was married to a Morley who was a tailor.

1881 census records William as being 2 yrs old, a"((Scholar))" and l iving with his parents in Highworth. There seems to be a humourist inthe family!

Hi Mike, yes my grandfather was William J Caswell born in 1878 in Highworth,I was in contact with you a few years ago, I think it was in 1999, I went to England that year and my sister and I went to Caswell farm, the owner was very nice and let us look at the old remains of the castle. I have recently found some first cousins that live in the Coventry area, they are my Mum's sisters' daughters. Their Mum is Mary Caswell, she would have been born about 1910, because she was a lot older than my Mum. My Mum was born in 1923, I can't find my Grandmother's name, I will ask my sister to send it to me, she told it to me once before and I never got around to entering it on my tree, now I have lost it. My Mum had a lot of sisters that we don't even know the names of because she was second last to be born, out of 12 girls and 1 boy, so the oldest sister had already left home when she was born, I know there was one named Elsie who went to London and was taken into service when she was 13 or 14, as far as I know she never married. I hope you are keeping well, nice to hear from you again. If I can get any more info I will let you know. If you know of any more of my relatives I would love to hear about them. Take care, Gillian.----- Original Message ----- From: <mike@moonrakers.com

There are 2 Mary Anne 's logged in the IGI (page 2808) for the period relevant to this branch. I have chosen the first entry as the second only showed one parent. More evidence is needed here to conclusively prove which of these two really belongs to the Johnson branch.

2nd entry shows:- Mary Anne Caswell bapt 24 Dec 1865 Mother Jane Caswell Ogbourne St George.

1881 census Mary Ann, 19 yrs old, occupation- cook + domestic, living with Sarah Gale (head of house) and born in Ogbourne St George.

June 17 1764 Richard son of John & Elizabeth was bapt

The Brinkworth records show a Richard & Mary to be buried there, with in a short space of time. As this Richard is the only one on file with the right birth date & a wife called Mary, I must presume I have the right people to attribute these burial dates to.

The Calne records show that a Richard and Mary had three children whilst they were farming in Stockley, a small hamlet just outside Calne, near Cherhill.

Richard is recorded as being a farmer, so I have classified him as a yeoman.

 Father: Richard Caswell (1764-1 Feb 1839)
 Mother: Mary Chambers (1763-9 Feb 1837)

Roger Mawby, search agent confirms this baptism.

The burial is recorded in my notes from WRO, but I noted it as 1770. This was in a list of events and was either out of sequence or incorrectly recorded. I think the latter.

Birth: 1708, Cherhill?

Father: Richard Casswell (8 Jul 1684-15 Apr 1730)

Mother: Hester Pope (22 Oct 1684-abt 1741)

This marriage was recorded in the Rowde Transcripts Register. (WRO)

Christian was recorded as being 21 when she married.

1.1.1.1.1.1a.1a.3.3.2.4.1.2.7.1.4 Hester Caswell

Birth: 1708, Cherhill

Father: Richard Casswell (8 Jul 1684-15 Apr 1730)

Mother: Hester Pope (22 Oct 1684-abt 1741)

Marriage is recorded in the Rowde Transcripts register.(WRO)

The entry in the register for Cherhill simply states, 'Hester Caswel I baptized Apr 19 1708'. No parents are mentioned. There are no other families having children other than Richard & Hester, so I have placed this Hester with this family. It seems fairly obvious that they would name a daughter after her mother.

But, on the other hand, is this Richard's wife Hester being baptised the same day as her daughter Christian? There is no doubt we have the right family here, but who's who?

 Death: 27 Aug 1775, Middleborough, Ma
 Father: Richard Casswell (8 Jul 1684-15 Apr 1730)
 Mother: Hester Pope (22 Oct 1684-abt 1741)

There are two marriages of Caswells to Elizabeth Flower, and I have occasionally seen children called by the mothers last name.

Spouse: Sarah Bolwell (1721-7 Sep 1778)
 Birth: 1721
 Death: 7 Sep 1778, Middleborough, Plymouth, Ma

I have not, as yet, been able to establish a marriage between these two, but it does seem unlikely that there is another Flower Caswel in the same village at the same time. Therefore I am assuming that Sarah died & Flower had a nother child by Hester, which accounts for Thomas.

My mother was born in 1914 to Charles de Lacy Hawkins and Mary Jane Hawkins. When my mother was about 13 she and her younger brother were put into a home because their mother was dying of cervical cancer. This all happened in Wales. When she was 16 she moved to Weston-super-Mare and fell pregnant to a Mr. Marwood. Peter John Hawkins was born in 1934 in South Petherton, Somerset. She then met and married a Mr. Francis Fisher and in 1937 they had a daughter called Janet. At some stage she met Gerard Munson but when he realized that the two children with her were her own and not her brother and sister as she first told him, he left. She went after him and and persuaded him to take her back. She then took Peter to the nearest Dr. Barnados and put him up for adoption (he was about 4 years old) and took Janet to the house in Wales, tied her to her cot and left for London which is where she was living at this time probably with a family that she used to work for. Janet was 18 months old. They now moved to Middlesbrough where Gerard was born and they had Fred and Anne before moving back down to London where Maureen was born. Gerard was in the army and we think that he was sent abroad because she then met and married Christopher Fairchild (she was never married to Gerard). They moved to Liverpool taking Fred, Anne and Maureen with them and had Paul and David. For some reason which we will now never know, she waited for Christopher to go off to work on the buses at about 3 in the morning, got her 3 children from Gerard up and, telling them that Christopher no longer loved them, got them dressed and traveled down to Gravesend, Kent where Gerard was now working. This meant, of course, that Paul and David were left on their own - Paul was nearly 2 and David was 8 months. This was in 1947 and 2 years later, I was born. She carried on being unfaithful to Gerard until he eventually left in 1953 taking Fred with him. We girls had an horrific life with her until, when I was 10, she threw us out at 10 o'clock at night because we wouldn't go to the pub and get her a drink!! None of us saw her again until Oct. 1997 when Fred got a phone call from a lady who turned out to be Janet. (I forgot to add, Mike, that none of us knew about the other children, except Fred can now remember things about 2 little boys in a small 2 up 2 down which must have been the 2 boys in Liverpool.) It seems that Janet's father received a letter from our mother when she was 13 saying that if Janet wanted she could now live with her. Janet didn't of course but she remembered that in the letter it said that there was a brother who had just passed his 11 plus. This stuck in Janets' mind and when her father and then her step-mother died she started the long search for her brother who she knew nothing about except that he had passed his 11 plus when she was 13!! It took her 10 long years during which she gave up a few times!! Fred then went to see our mother and she told him about Peter and Paul but she never mentioned David. I was determined to find them which I eventually did but there are 2 more siblings which I cant find. I don't know if they are male or female or their ages and our mother wouldn't tell me when I telephoned her. She is dead now so I will probably never find them.
